

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A heat transfer fluid composition and process employing composite mixtures of terpenes and silicones useful for heat transfer processes in a temperature range down to -200°F, where the fluid heat transfer composition retains its liquid phase over the entire temperature range.

0001-0000-0000-0000